

Interpreting in Health and Community Settings Certificate

A Program of the Connecticut Area
Health Education Center and Eastern
AHEC, Inc

The Connecticut AHEC Medical Interpreter Certificate establishes the foundation for all community interpreters and provides specialized training in health care interpretation. In addition to expertise in the professional standards of practice and the modes and techniques of community interpreting, a health care interpreter must understand health care as a cultural system and master the most common medical concepts, procedures, and terminology.

Learning Outcomes

1. Assess cultural differences in health care beliefs and practices that may be interfering with the communication process.
2. Describe and explain the structure and principles of the U.S. health care system.
3. Restate and discuss the roles of medical interpreters, the professional standards, and the code of ethics.
4. Define and describe the roles of biomedical practitioners and common methods of diagnosis.
5. Interpret basic medical terminology and anatomy in both English and the language to be interpreted.
6. Apply basic interpreting techniques and be able to justify the technique selected according to particular situations.
7. Illustrate the ability to guide the interpreting encounter while employing memory skills.

Prerequisites for Admission:

- ❖ Be at least 18 years of age
- ❖ Hold a high school diploma or equivalent
- ❖ Demonstrated proficiency in English and in at least one Non-English language and culture

Requirements for Program Completion

- ❖ Attend 100% of the 40 hours of class time
- ❖ Score at least 85% correct on both midterm and final exams
- ❖ Submit the completed vocabulary workbook and other homework assignments
(Average time for homework is 8-10 hours in addition to class time)

Connecting students to careers, professionals to communities, and communities to better health

Requirements for Certificate of Achievement

(Components must be completed within 30 days of the last class)

- ❖ Observation by the instructor during an actual encounter
- ❖ Submit at least two assessment forms from both providers and consumers regarding a particular encounter you interpreted
- ❖ Submit a self-assessment regarding how well the course prepared you to interpreter in the community

Participant Support Services

- ❖ Excused class absences must be made up at the next public course offering
- ❖ The proficiency assessment can be taken again within 90 days of the original test date
- ❖ Instructors will make specific recommendations for improvement if necessary
- ❖ Instructors will provide extra help upon request

Qualified Medical Interpreters Contribute to:

- Improving health outcomes
- Enhancing communication between clinical providers and Limited-English Proficient (LEP) patients
- Increasing clinician and patient satisfaction
